The features of each book or program were developed by the publisher and do not reflect the opinion of the Kentucky State Review Team Kentucky State Textbook Commission or the Kentucky Department of Education.

Content	Scooters« is a series of high-interest, low-level-readability texts for grades 2 through 8. The series provides the support students need to transition to more difficult texts while experiencing success along the way. The books are leveled and contain manageable amounts of predictable text per page, with sentences structured specifically for easy readability. Fifty titles are available in both high interest fiction and nonfiction topics.
Student Experiences	Scooters« provides struggling readers with frequently repeated content words and strong visual support. All nonfiction titles include a glossary, index, and table of contents. Students are able to read text that attracts their attention and raiseÆs motivation, but will not cause students to struggle with the process of reading.
Assessment	Formal and informal assessment activities for the teacher are built into Scooters« TeacherÆs Guides. Four multilevel blackline masters provide teachers with differentiated evidence of studentsÆ comprehension and are available for every title.
Organization	Each of the five levels of Scooters« has a TeacherÆs Guide that incorporates a detailed lesson plan for each title. These plans are a great resource for teachers because they provide interactions with the text, promote effective literacy development, and strengthen skills necessary for comprehension. The teaching focus and skills are clearly marked for each lesson and help guide teachers in their instruction. Guided reading lessons also offer a high degree of teacher support.
Resource Materials	Also Available: TeacherÆs Guide StudentsÆ books

Overall Strength and/or Weaknesses

Disclaimer: Comments on the strengths and/or weaknesses of each book, material or program were written by members of the State Textbook/Instructional Materials Review Team and reflect their opinions. They do not reflect the opinions of the State Textbook Commission nor the Kentucky Department of Education. In addition, the State Textbook/Instructional Materials Review Team completed each evaluation form during summer of 2005. In order to maintain the integrity of the review team's comments, editing was limited to spelling and punctuation.

Recommendations: The Scooters books may provide a good supplement to an intervention reading class. The texts are fairly engaging (fiction titles more than non-fiction) for middle school students, although the lower level books seem a bit too elementary in content. The teacher directed questions provide deeper engagement with the text.

Overall Strength and/or Weaknesses

Disclaimer: Comments on the strengths and/or weaknesses of each book, material or program were written by members of the State Textbook/Instructional Materials Review Team and reflect their opinions. They do not reflect the opinions of the State Textbook Commission nor the Kentucky Department of Education. In addition, the State Textbook/Instructional Materials Review Team completed each evaluation form during summer of 2005. In order to maintain the integrity of the review team's comments, editing was limited to spelling and punctuation.

Recommendations: The Scooters books may provide a good supplement to an intervention reading class. The texts are fairly engaging (fiction titles more than non-fiction) for middle school students, although the lower level books seem a bit too elementary in content. The teacher directed questions provide deeper engagement with the text.

Content	Scooters« is a series of high-interest, low-level-readability texts for grades 2 through 8. The series provides the support students need to transition to more difficult texts while experiencing success along the way. The books are leveled and contain manageable amounts of predictable text per page, with sentences structured specifically for easy readability. Fifty titles are available in both high interest fiction and nonfiction topics.
Student Experiences	Scooters« provides struggling readers with frequently repeated content words and strong visual support. All nonfiction titles include a glossary, index, and table of contents. Students are able to read text that attracts their attention and raiseÆs motivation, but will not cause students to struggle with the process of reading.
Assessment	Formal and informal assessment activities for the teacher are built into Scooters« TeacherÆs Guides. Four multilevel blackline masters provide teachers with differentiated evidence of studentsÆ comprehension and are available for every title.

The features of each book or program were developed by the publisher and do not reflect the opinion of the Kentucky State Review Team Kentucky State Textbook Commission or the Kentucky Department of Education.

Content	Scooters« is a series of high-interest, low-level-readability texts for grades 2 through 8. The series provides the support students need to transition to more difficult texts while experiencing success along the way. The books are leveled and contain manageable amounts of predictable text per page, with sentences structured specifically for easy readability. Fifty titles are available in both high interest fiction and nonfiction topics.
Student Experiences	Scooters« provides struggling readers with frequently repeated content words and strong visual support. All nonfiction titles include a glossary, index, and table of contents. Students are able to read text that attracts their attention and raiseÆs motivation, but will not cause students to struggle with the process of reading.
Assessment	Formal and informal assessment activities for the teacher are built into Scooters« TeacherÆs Guides. Four multilevel blackline masters provide teachers with differentiated evidence of studentsÆ comprehension and are available for every title.
Organization	Each of the five levels of Scooters« has a TeacherÆs Guide that incorporates a detailed lesson plan for each title. These plans are a great resource for teachers because they provide interactions with the text, promote effective literacy development, and strengthen skills necessary for comprehension. The teaching focus and skills are clearly marked for each lesson and help guide teachers in their instruction. Guided reading lessons also offer a high degree of teacher support.

Recommendations: The Scooters books may provide a good supplement to an intervention reading class. The texts are fairly engaging (fiction titles more than non-fiction) for middle school students, although the lower level books seem a bit too elementary in content. The teacher directed questions provide deeper engagement with the text.

Content	Scooters [®] is a series of high-interest, low-level-readability texts for grades 2 through 8. The series provides the support students need to transition to more difficult texts while experiencing success along the way. The books are leveled and contain manageable amounts of predictable text per page, with sentences structured specifically for easy readability. Fifty titles are available in both high interest fiction and nonfiction topics.
Student Experiences	Scooters [®] provides struggling readers with frequently repeated content words and strong visual support. All nonfiction titles include a glossary, index, and table of contents. Students are able to read text that attracts their attention and raise [®] s motivation, but will not cause students to struggle with the process of reading.
Assessment	Formal and informal assessment activities for the teacher are built into Scooters [®] Teacher [®] s Guides. Four multilevel blackline masters provide teachers with differentiated evidence of students [®] comprehension and are available for every title.
Organization	Each of the five levels of Scooters [®] has a Teacher [®] s Guide that incorporates a detailed lesson plan for each title. These plans are a great resource for teachers because they provide interactions with the text, promote effective literacy development, and strengthen skills necessary for comprehension. The teaching focus and skills are clearly marked for each lesson and help guide teachers in their instruction. Guided reading lessons also offer a high degree of teacher support.

Grade Level	Fourth Grade Eighth Grade	Fifth Grade	Sixth Grade	Seventh Grade
Readability Level	Q
Course / Content	Reading
List Price:	34.95
Wholesale Price	34.950000000000003

The features of each book or program were developed by the publisher and do not reflect the opinion of the Kentucky State Review Team Kentucky State Textbook Commission or the Kentucky Department of Education.

Content	Scooters« is a series of high-interest, low-level-readability texts for grades 2 through 8. The series provides the support students need to transition to more difficult texts while experiencing success along the way. The books are leveled and contain manageable amounts of predictable text per page, with sentences structured specifically for easy readability. Fifty titles are available in both high interest fiction and nonfiction topics.
Student Experiences	Scooters« provides struggling readers with frequently repeated content words and strong visual support. All nonfiction titles include a glossary, index, and table of contents. Students are able to read text that attracts their attention and raiseÆs motivation, but will not cause students to struggle with the process of reading.
Assessment	Formal and informal assessment activities for the teacher are built into Scooters« TeacherÆs Guides. Four multilevel blackline masters provide teachers with differentiated evidence of studentsÆ comprehension and are available for every title.
Organization	Each of the five levels of Scooters« has a TeacherÆs Guide that incorporates a detailed lesson plan for each title. These plans are a great resource for teachers because they provide interactions with the text, promote effective literacy development, and strengthen skills necessary for comprehension. The teaching focus and skills are clearly marked for each lesson and help guide teachers in their instruction. Guided reading lessons also offer a high degree of teacher support.

Recommendations: The Scooters books may provide a good supplement to an intervention reading class. The texts are fairly engaging (fiction titles more than non-fiction) for middle school students, although the lower level books seem a bit too elementary in content. The teacher directed questions provide deeper engagement with the text.

The features of each book or program were developed by the publisher and do not reflect the opinion of the Kentucky State Review Team Kentucky State Textbook Commission or the Kentucky Department of Education.

Content	Scooters« is a series of high-interest, low-level-readability texts for grades 2 through 8. The series provides the support students need to transition to more difficult texts while experiencing success along the way. The books are leveled and contain manageable amounts of predictable text per page, with sentences structured specifically for easy readability. Fifty titles are available in both high interest fiction and nonfiction topics.
Student Experiences	Scooters« provides struggling readers with frequently repeated content words and strong visual support. All nonfiction titles include a glossary, index, and table of contents. Students are able to read text that attracts their attention and raiseÆs motivation, but will not cause students to struggle with the process of reading.
Assessment	Formal and informal assessment activities for the teacher are built into Scooters« TeacherÆs Guides. Four multilevel blackline masters provide teachers with differentiated evidence of studentsÆ comprehension and are available for every title.
Organization	Each of the five levels of Scooters« has a TeacherÆs Guide that incorporates a detailed lesson plan for each title. These plans are a great resource for teachers because they provide interactions with the text, promote effective literacy development, and strengthen skills necessary for comprehension. The teaching focus and skills are clearly marked for each lesson and help guide teachers in their instruction. Guided reading lessons also offer a high degree of teacher support.

Overall Strength and/or Weaknesses

Disclaimer: Comments on the strengths and/or weaknesses of each book, material or program were written by members of the State Textbook/Instructional Materials Review Team and reflect their opinions. They do not reflect the opinions of the State Textbook Commission nor the Kentucky Department of Education. In addition, the State Textbook/Instructional Materials Review Team completed each evaluation form during summer of 2005. In order to maintain the integrity of the review team's comments, editing was limited to spelling and punctuation.

Recommendations: The Scooters books may provide a good supplement to an intervention reading class. The texts are fairly engaging (fiction titles more than non-fiction) for middle school students, although the lower level books seem a bit too elementary in content. The teacher directed questions provide deeper engagement with the text.

Overall Strength and/or Weaknesses

Disclaimer: Comments on the strengths and/or weaknesses of each book, material or program were written by members of the State Textbook/Instructional Materials Review Team and reflect their opinions. They do not reflect the opinions of the State Textbook Commission nor the Kentucky Department of Education. In addition, the State Textbook/Instructional Materials Review Team completed each evaluation form during summer of 2005. In order to maintain the integrity of the review team's comments, editing was limited to spelling and punctuation.

Recommendations: The Scooters books may provide a good supplement to an intervention reading class. The texts are fairly engaging (fiction titles more than non-fiction) for middle school students, although the lower level books seem a bit too elementary in content. The teacher directed questions provide deeper engagement with the text.

Content	Scooters« is a series of high-interest, low-level-readability texts for grades 2 through 8. The series provides the support students need to transition to more difficult texts while experiencing success along the way. The books are leveled and contain manageable amounts of predictable text per page, with sentences structured specifically for easy readability. Fifty titles are available in both high interest fiction and nonfiction topics.
Student Experiences	Scooters« provides struggling readers with frequently repeated content words and strong visual support. All nonfiction titles include a glossary, index, and table of contents. Students are able to read text that attracts their attention and raiseÆs motivation, but will not cause students to struggle with the process of reading.
Assessment	Formal and informal assessment activities for the teacher are built into Scooters« TeacherÆs Guides. Four multilevel blackline masters provide teachers with differentiated evidence of studentsÆ comprehension and are available for every title.
Organization	Each of the five levels of Scooters« has a TeacherÆs Guide that incorporates a detailed lesson plan for each title. These plans are a great resource for teachers because they provide interactions with the text, promote effective literacy development, and strengthen skills necessary for comprehension. The teaching focus and skills are clearly marked for each lesson and help guide teachers in their instruction. Guided reading lessons also offer a high degree of teacher support.

The features of each book or program were developed by the publisher and do not reflect the opinion of the Kentucky State Review Team Kentucky State Textbook Commission or the Kentucky Department of Education.

Content	Scooters« is a series of high-interest, low-level-readability texts for grades 2 through 8. The series provides the support students need to transition to more difficult texts while experiencing success along the way. The books are leveled and contain manageable amounts of predictable text per page, with sentences structured specifically for easy readability. Fifty titles are available in both high interest fiction and nonfiction topics.
Student Experiences	Scooters« provides struggling readers with frequently repeated content words and strong visual support. All nonfiction titles include a glossary, index, and table of contents. Students are able to read text that attracts their attention and raiseÆs motivation, but will not cause students to struggle with the process of reading.
Assessment	Formal and informal assessment activities for the teacher are built into Scooters« TeacherÆs Guides. Four multilevel blackline masters provide teachers with differentiated evidence of studentsÆ comprehension and are available for every title.
Organization	Each of the five levels of Scooters« has a TeacherÆs Guide that incorporates a detailed lesson plan for each title. These plans are a great resource for teachers because they provide interactions with the text, promote effective literacy development, and strengthen skills necessary for comprehension. The teaching focus and skills are clearly marked for each lesson and help guide teachers in their instruction. Guided reading lessons also offer a high degree of teacher support.

Recommendations: The Scooters books may provide a good supplement to an intervention reading class. The texts are fairly engaging (fiction titles more than non-fiction) for middle school students, although the lower level books seem a bit too elementary in content. The teacher directed questions provide deeper engagement with the text.

The features of each book or program were developed by the publisher and do not reflect the opinion of the Kentucky State Review Team Kentucky State Textbook Commission or the Kentucky Department of Education.

Content Scooters« is a series of high-interest, low-level-readability texts for grades 2 through 8. The series provides the support students need to transition to more difficult texts while experiencing success along the way. The books are leveled and contain manageable amounts of predictable text per page, with sentences structured specifically for easy readability. Fifty titles are available in both high interest fiction and nonfiction topics.

Student Experiences Scooters« provides struggling readers with frequently repeated content words and strong visual support. All nonfiction titles include a glossary, index, and table of contents. Students are able to read text that attracts their attention and raiseÆs motivation, but will not cause students to struggle with the process of reading.

Assessment Formal and informal assessment activities for the teacher are built into Scooters« TeacherÆs Guides. Four multilevel blackline masters provide teachers with differentiated evidence of studentsÆ comprehension and are available for every title.

Organization Each of the five levels of Scooters« has a TeacherÆs Guide that incorporates a detailed lesson plan for each title. These plans are a great resource for teachers because they provide interactions with the text, promote effective literacy development, and strengthen skills necessary for comprehension. The teaching focus and skills are clearly marked for each lesson and help guide teachers in their instruction. Guided reading lessons also offer a high degree of teacher support.

Recommendations: The Scooters books may provide a good supplement to an intervention reading class. The texts are fairly engaging (fiction titles more than non-fiction) for middle school students, although the lower level books seem a bit too elementary in content. The teacher directed questions provide deeper engagement with the text.

Overall Strength and/or Weaknesses

Disclaimer: Comments on the strengths and/or weaknesses of each book, material or program were written by members of the State Textbook/Instructional Materials Review Team and reflect their opinions. They do not reflect the opinions of the State Textbook Commission nor the Kentucky Department of Education. In addition, the State Textbook/Instructional Materials Review Team completed each evaluation form during summer of 2005. In order to maintain the integrity of the review team's comments, editing was limited to spelling and punctuation.

Recommendations: The Scooters books may provide a good supplement to an intervention reading class. The texts are fairly engaging (fiction titles more than non-fiction) for middle school students, although the lower level books seem a bit too elementary in content. The teacher directed questions provide deeper engagement with the text.

Content Scooters« is a series of high-interest, low-level-readability texts for grades 2 through 8. The series provides the support students need to transition to more difficult texts while experiencing success along the way. The books are leveled and contain manageable amounts of predictable text per page, with sentences structured specifically for easy readability. Fifty titles are available in both high interest fiction and nonfiction topics.

Student Experiences Scooters« provides struggling readers with frequently repeated content words and strong visual support. All nonfiction titles include a glossary, index, and table of contents. Students are able to read text that attracts their attention and raiseÆs motivation, but will not cause students to struggle with the process of reading.

Assessment Formal and informal assessment activities for the teacher are built into Scooters« TeacherÆs Guides. Four multilevel blackline masters provide teachers with differentiated evidence of studentsÆ comprehension and are available for every title.

Organization Each of the five levels of Scooters« has a TeacherÆs Guide that incorporates a detailed lesson plan for each title. These plans are a great resource for teachers because they provide interactions with the text, promote effective literacy development, and strengthen skills necessary for comprehension. The teaching focus and skills are clearly marked for each lesson and help guide teachers in their instruction. Guided reading lessons also offer a high degree of teacher support.

The features of each book or program were developed by the publisher and do not reflect the opinion of the Kentucky State Review Team Kentucky State Textbook Commission or the Kentucky Department of Education.

Content	Scooters« is a series of high-interest, low-level-readability texts for grades 2 through 8. The series provides the support students need to transition to more difficult texts while experiencing success along the way. The books are leveled and contain manageable amounts of predictable text per page, with sentences structured specifically for easy readability. Fifty titles are available in both high interest fiction and nonfiction topics.
Student Experiences	Scooters« provides struggling readers with frequently repeated content words and strong visual support. All nonfiction titles include a glossary, index, and table of contents. Students are able to read text that attracts their attention and raiseÆs motivation, but will not cause students to struggle with the process of reading.
Assessment	Formal and informal assessment activities for the teacher are built into Scooters« TeacherÆs Guides. Four multilevel blackline masters provide teachers with differentiated evidence of studentsÆ comprehension and are available for every title.
Organization	Each of the five levels of Scooters« has a TeacherÆs Guide that incorporates a detailed lesson plan for each title. These plans are a great resource for teachers because they provide interactions with the text, promote effective literacy development, and strengthen skills necessary for comprehension. The teaching focus and skills are clearly marked for each lesson and help guide teachers in their instruction. Guided reading lessons also offer a high degree of teacher support.

Overall Strength and/or Weaknesses

Disclaimer: Comments on the strengths and/or weaknesses of each book, material or program were written by members of the State Textbook/Instructional Materials Review Team and reflect their opinions. They do not reflect the opinions of the State Textbook Commission nor the Kentucky Department of Education. In addition, the State Textbook/Instructional Materials Review Team completed each evaluation form during summer of 2005. In order to maintain the integrity of the review team's comments, editing was limited to spelling and punctuation.

Recommendations: The Scooters books may provide a good supplement to an intervention reading class. The texts are fairly engaging (fiction titles more than non-fiction) for middle school students, although the lower level books seem a bit too elementary in content. The teacher directed questions provide deeper engagement with the text.

The features of each book or program were developed by the publisher and do not reflect the opinion of the Kentucky State Review Team Kentucky State Textbook Commission or the Kentucky Department of Education.

Content Scooters« is a series of high-interest, low-level-readability texts for grades 2 through 8. The series provides the support students need to transition to more difficult texts while experiencing success along the way. The books are leveled and contain manageable amounts of predictable text per page, with sentences structured specifically for easy readability. Fifty titles are available in both high interest fiction and nonfiction topics.

Student Experiences Scooters« provides struggling readers with frequently repeated content words and strong visual support. All nonfiction titles include a glossary, index, and table of contents. Students are able to read text that attracts their attention and raiseÆs motivation, but will not cause students to struggle with the process of reading.

Assessment Formal and informal assessment activities for the teacher are built into Scooters« TeacherÆs Guides. Four multilevel blackline masters provide teachers with differentiated evidence of studentsÆ comprehension and are available for every title.

Organization Each of the five levels of Scooters« has a TeacherÆs Guide that incorporates a detailed lesson plan for each title. These plans are a great resource for teachers because they provide interactions with the text, promote effective literacy development, and strengthen skills necessary for comprehension. The teaching focus and skills are clearly marked for each lesson and help guide teachers in their instruction. Guided reading lessons also offer a high degree of teacher support.

The features of each book or program were developed by the publisher and do not reflect the opinion of the Kentucky State Review Team Kentucky State Textbook Commission or the Kentucky Department of Education.

Content Scooters« is a series of high-interest, low-level-readability texts for grades 2 through 8. The series provides the support students need to transition to more difficult texts while experiencing success along the way. The books are leveled and contain manageable amounts of predictable text per page, with sentences structured specifically for easy readability. Fifty titles are available in both high interest fiction and nonfiction topics.

Student Experiences Scooters« provides struggling readers with frequently repeated content words and strong visual support. All nonfiction titles include a glossary, index, and table of contents. Students are able to read text that attracts their attention and raiseÆs motivation, but will not cause students to struggle with the process of reading.

Assessment Formal and informal assessment activities for the teacher are built into Scooters« TeacherÆs Guides. Four multilevel blackline masters provide teachers with differentiated evidence of studentsÆ comprehension and are available for every title.

Organization Each of the five levels of Scooters« has a TeacherÆs Guide that incorporates a detailed lesson plan for each title. These plans are a great resource for teachers because they provide interactions with the text, promote effective literacy development, and strengthen skills necessary for comprehension. The teaching focus and skills are clearly marked for each lesson and help guide teachers in their instruction. Guided reading lessons also offer a high degree of teacher support.

The features of each book or program were developed by the publisher and do not reflect the opinion of the Kentucky State Review Team Kentucky State Textbook Commission or the Kentucky Department of Education.

Content Scooters« is a series of high-interest, low-level-readability texts for grades 2 through 8. The series provides the support students need to transition to more difficult texts while experiencing success along the way. The books are leveled and contain manageable amounts of predictable text per page, with sentences structured specifically for easy readability. Fifty titles are available in both high interest fiction and nonfiction topics.

Student Experiences Scooters« provides struggling readers with frequently repeated content words and strong visual support. All nonfiction titles include a glossary, index, and table of contents. Students are able to read text that attracts their attention and raiseÆs motivation, but will not cause students to struggle with the process of reading.

Assessment Formal and informal assessment activities for the teacher are built into Scooters« TeacherÆs Guides. Four multilevel blackline masters provide teachers with differentiated evidence of studentsÆ comprehension and are available for every title.

Organization Each of the five levels of Scooters« has a TeacherÆs Guide that incorporates a detailed lesson plan for each title. These plans are a great resource for teachers because they provide interactions with the text, promote effective literacy development, and strengthen skills necessary for comprehension. The teaching focus and skills are clearly marked for each lesson and help guide teachers in their instruction. Guided reading lessons also offer a high degree of teacher support.

Recommendations: The Scooters books may provide a good supplement to an intervention reading class. The texts are fairly engaging (fiction titles more than non-fiction) for middle school students, although the lower level books seem a bit too elementary in content. The teacher directed questions provide deeper engagement with the text.

The books are leveled and contain manageable amounts of predictable text per page, with sentences structured specifically for easy readability. Fifty titles are available in both high interest fiction and nonfiction topics.
Student Experiences	Scooters« provides struggling readers with frequently repeated content words and strong visual support. All nonfiction titles include a glossary, index, and table of contents. Students are able to read text that attracts their attention and raiseÆs motivation, but will not cause students to struggle with the process of reading.
Assessment	Formal and informal assessment activities for the teacher are built into Scooters« TeacherÆs Guides. Four multilevel blackline masters provide teachers with differentiated evidence of studentsÆ comprehension and are available for every title.
Organization	Each of the five levels of Scooters« has a TeacherÆs Guide that incorporates a detailed lesson plan for each title. These plans are a great resource for teachers because they provide interactions with the text, promote effective literacy development, and strengthen skills necessary for comprehension. The teaching focus and skills are clearly marked for each lesson and help guide teachers in their instruction. Guided reading lessons also offer a high degree of teacher support.

Overall Strength and/or Weaknesses

Disclaimer: Comments on the strengths and/or weaknesses of each book, material or program were written by members of the State Textbook/Instructional Materials Review Team and reflect their opinions. They do not reflect the opinions of the State Textbook Commission nor the Kentucky Department of Education. In addition, the State Textbook/Instructional Materials Review Team completed each evaluation form during summer of 2005. In order to maintain the integrity of the review team's comments, editing was limited to spelling and punctuation.

Recommendations: The Scooters books may provide a good supplement to an intervention reading class. The texts are fairly engaging (fiction titles more than non-fiction) for middle school students, although the lower level books seem a bit too elementary in content. The teacher directed questions provide deeper engagement with the text.

They do not reflect the opinions of the State Textbook Commission nor the Kentucky Department of Education. In addition, the State Textbook/Instructional Materials Review Team completed each evaluation form during summer of 2005. In order to maintain the integrity of the review team's comments, editing was limited to spelling and punctuation.

Recommendations: The Scooters books may provide a good supplement to an intervention reading class. The texts are fairly engaging (fiction titles more than non-fiction) for middle school students, although the lower level books seem a bit too elementary in content. The teacher directed questions provide deeper engagement with the text.

Content	Scooters« is a series of high-interest, low-level-readability texts for grades 2 through 8. The series provides the support students need to transition to more difficult texts while experiencing success along the way. The books are leveled and contain manageable amounts of predictable text per page, with sentences structured specifically for easy readability. Fifty titles are available in both high interest fiction and nonfiction topics.
Student Experiences	Scooters« provides struggling readers with frequently repeated content words and strong visual support. All nonfiction titles include a glossary, index, and table of contents. Students are able to read text that attracts their attention and raiseÆs motivation, but will not cause students to struggle with the process of reading.
Assessment	Formal and informal assessment activities for the teacher are built into Scooters« TeacherÆs Guides. Four multilevel blackline masters provide teachers with differentiated evidence of studentsÆ comprehension and are available for every title.
Organization	Each of the five levels of Scooters« has a TeacherÆs Guide that incorporates a detailed lesson plan for each title. These plans are a great resource for teachers because they provide interactions with the text, promote effective literacy development, and strengthen skills necessary for comprehension. The teaching focus and skills are clearly marked for each lesson and help guide teachers in their instruction. Guided reading lessons also offer a high degree of teacher support.

Content	Scooters« is a series of high-interest, low-level-readability texts for grades 2 through 8. The series provides the support students need to transition to more difficult texts while experiencing success along the way. The books are leveled and contain manageable amounts of predictable text per page, with sentences structured specifically for easy readability. Fifty titles are available in both high interest fiction and nonfiction topics.
Student Experiences	Scooters« provides struggling readers with frequently repeated content words and strong visual support. All nonfiction titles include a glossary, index, and table of contents. Students are able to read text that attracts their attention and raiseÆs motivation, but will not cause students to struggle with the process of reading.
Assessment	Formal and informal assessment activities for the teacher are built into Scooters« TeacherÆs Guides. Four multilevel blackline masters provide teachers with differentiated evidence of studentsÆ comprehension and are available for every title.
Organization	Each of the five levels of Scooters« has a TeacherÆs Guide that incorporates a detailed lesson plan for each title. These plans are a great resource for teachers because they provide interactions with the text, promote effective literacy development, and strengthen skills necessary for comprehension. The teaching focus and skills are clearly marked for each lesson and help guide teachers in their instruction. Guided reading lessons also offer a high degree of teacher support.
